

ALENKA DIVJAK

CURRICULUM VITAE

Assoc. Prof. Dr. Alenka Divjak graduated in Slovenian and English languages at the Faculty of Education of the University in Maribor. At the University of Leeds (Great Britain), she obtained a master's degree in Old English literature and a PhD in Old Norse literature. She dedicates her scientific and research interests to medieval romances and hagiography. At the same time, however, as a professor of the English language at the Landscape Governance College GRM in Novo mesto (Slovenia), she also poses practical questions of the relationship between the maternal and the foreign language in Slovenian schools. She seeks answers for the problematic also in the history of Slovenian education system.